Leaving their destination early Saturday morning they spent a good part of the day in various garages. They finally succeeded in coming through on three cylinders, as Jonah said, on the hop, step and jump. Their last stop was at New Albany about six miles from home. This town having no Ford dealer the boys got busy in locating a phone and called on their dad for assistance. Jonas Culler responded with his new Overland and towed them in, arriving home about midnight. The boys report the convention a success, but later found that their tin Lizzie had been hypnotized.

Advise to June bridegrooms; America is the home of the brave, but don't try to prove it by starting a rough house.
